3 Stubborn PC Problems You Can Fix

Ever notice how each PC has a personality of its own? Or maybe even multiple personalities? In the course of a week, your computer may act friendly, moody, and sometimes downright mean. Don't take a hammer to your PC yet. Here are some common problems that do not require a psychologist to fix.

1. Your System is low on virtual memory.

Your PC gradually gets slower and slower. Programs take forever to launch.

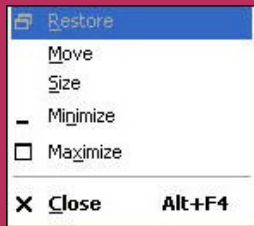

It's time to upgrade your PC's memory .

2. Your windows slide off the desktop and you can't grab them.

Use your keyboard.

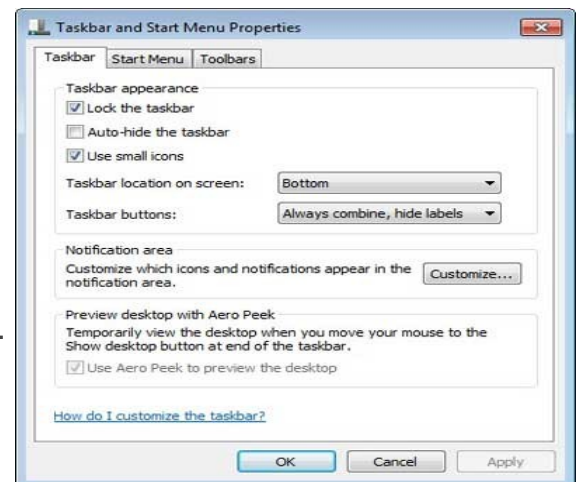

1. Select the program window you're trying to move, and then press ALT+SPACEBAR on your keyboard. The program's shortcut menu is displayed.
2. Click Move.
3. Use your LEFT ARROW, RIGHT ARROW, UP ARROW, or DOWN ARROW keys to move the window so you can see its title bar on your screen.
4. After you move the window where you want it, press ENTER.

3. Your Taskbar keeps disappearing.

- Set your taskbar so it's always on top of all desktop windows:

1. Right-click the taskbar, and click Properties.
2. Select the Lock the taskbar check box.
3. Make sure the Auto-hide the taskbar check box is not selected
